Vol. 115 No. 3 | Cameron, Milam County, Texas, Thursday March 21, 1974 | 12 Pages Today

115 With F.M.L.

There is no formal roster of the types of vehicles used in the past two years to tear down, grade and rebuild Cameron downtown. But let's try a review.

Most recent is the two-man, long gooseneck lifts being used by utility companies to change transformers, wiring around town.

There is also the one-man crane which employs a powerful drill device to dig holes for utility poles and to lift them out.

The ubiquitous concrete mixer, barrel backed and rumbling through city streets for much of the past 18 months. It comes in two sizes, neither of which you wish to collide with, big and bigger.

Equally as common is the dump truck by the dozens, city, paver, private contractors, hauling about 2 1/2 feet of downtown Cameron to gullies and low places all over the area.

The front-end loader which scoops up material, broken concrete into trucks. Its operator probably sleeps well in a hammock because he is so used to to-and-fro motion.

The smaller front-end loader and backhoe digger, mounted on a small tractor that lifts itself off its wheels as its four leveling arms form a work platform for either end.

The standard roadgrader, which smooths streets and material by the endless hour, six big wheels and "blade almost always at a cant to form a level which only the driver knows is right, according to mysterious stakes along new curbline.

A crane-like rig used by the contractor cleaning the outside of courthouse, putting a man up at the level he needs to sear off the residue of a decade.

The "Caterpiller" or tracked grader, small, but powerful in most cases here, ranging to larger models which gouge out and move enormous amounts of material in a matter of hours.

The pickup, modern cowpony to the Texan, the contractor, the builder, the guy on the street, probably as common on construction site as warm weather.

And a miniature lift about three and half feet wide used on special occasion on inside construction work where entrance and exit is about the width of a door.

This is most of the kinds. But sidewalk superintendents may recall others.

There was probably a modified bicycle somewhere.

Jury Probes Hearne Check

A grand jury is meeting in Franklin this week after it was called by Judge W. C. Wallace of 20th District Court to investigate the controversial $12,000 Hearne city check and a reported $10,683 discrepancy in Hearne city funds.

Robertson County Dist. Atty. Bryan Russ said he would present all the information he obtained in his investigation of the check and the discrepancy in municipal funds.

"I am going to tell the grand jury everything I know about both," said Dist. Atty. Russ, referring to both the $12,000 check and the $10,683 discrepancy in city books.

Russ and Robertson County Sheriff E. P. (Sonny) Elliott were investigating the $10,683 discrepancy when the matter of the $12,000 check came up.

A city of Hearne employe had said she was told the $12,000 check had been intended for Cong. Bob Poage's campaign fund. Cong. Poage denied the check went for his campaign fund and asked for an FBI investigation.

Later Hearne Mayor Jake Abrams sent a telegram to Poage apologizing for what Abrams said was a statement he made on television linking the $12,000 to Poage's campaign fund.

Hearne City Councilman Tommy Mayfield, who allegedly deposited the check in a Bryan bank after it was issued June 26, 1971, said on March 7 the check was to help secure a $2 million grant for urban development.

Mayfield's statement indicated the approval of the city's urban renewal contract came one month after the check signing. Mayfield would not say where the money went.

"I'm not at liberty to divulge that information, but I don't think any of it went to Congressman Poage," he said.

The story about the check broke February 28 when Mrs. Mae Beth Bishop, a bookkeeper for the city of Hearne, said in a television interview over a Houston channel that Hearne Mayor Abrams told her the check was to go to Cong. Poage.

The FBI has also been investigating the matter of the $12,000 check, which was made out to a non-existent engineering firm.

New Firetruck Due City After Council OKs Bid

The city will get a new fire truck within the next few weeks as the city council accepted low bid of $27,841.70 from a Houston firm Tuesday night.

Ward LaFrance, fire truck manufacturer at Houston, has a unit on hand and will deliver within the next two or three weeks, a representative of the company meeting with the council said.

Councilmen, with Bob Clark and Lincoln Mondrik absent, took care of a short agenda and were finished in an hour.

The council authorized the city secretary to buy two time clocks for use at the city maintenance barn and city hall for municipal employees.

The secretary was also authorized to notify Yoe Coach Ed Cauley to implement his summer recreation program for two months this summer, in line with the plans he submitted to the council last year.

Council also will request the city Housing Authority to submit a list of names to appoint a successor to Henry Litzman, who is resigning from the Authority's board of commissioners.

Requests for street lights will be granted for the corner of Main and Vine near Green's Grocery and on the northeast corner of the school property at 12th and Lee. A survey will be made for other locations that need a light.

Councilman Lawrence Zotz presented a request from St. Edward Hospital for paving the area from its parking lot in front of the hospital to the curb line to increase space for parking. Streets Supt. Jim Hale will make a recommendation to the council.

Council voted to become a member of the Southern Building Code organization at a fee of $25 a year.

COMEDY SCENE from "Desperate Ambrose" with Becky Marek and Jim Delony. The play will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings by the Yoe High Senior class at Ben Milam cafeteria. A spaghetti supper will precede Friday's performance.

Rogers-Seaton Election Called For April 13

The Rogers - Seaton school consolidation election has been set for April 13 with absentee voting to begin March 25.

The election was called Monday by Bell County commissioners after receiving petitions from the Rogers Independent School District and Seaton Common School District.

Abesentee votes in Rogers may be cast with absentee voting clerk, Margaret Gamble at the Rogers school.

Absentee voting by Seaton school patrons will be with County Clerk Ruby McKee in Belton.

Voting April 13 will be at the Rogers school with Mrs. Frank Poncik as election judge, and J. D. Chlapek Jr. will be election judge at the Seaton school.

The consolidation is the outgrowth of a federal court ruling that transfer students cannot upset the racial balance of a school district. The Texas Education Agency then notified school districts that the ruling would be enforced.

Students above the sixth grade, the top grade taught at Seaton, have been transferred in the past to the Rogers district along with some elementary students.

There are 16 elementary school students from Seaton who transfer to other schools, mostly Rogers, and they would have to return to their home district under the ruling.

Some patrons of the Seaton school district petitioned the county school board in January to annex the common district to the Rogers district.

The County school board denied the request in February, leading to the petitioning of the county commissioners to call the consolidation election.

Kubiak Asks Session For School Financing

State Rep. Dan Kubiak says he is proposing a special session to grant every school district a $40 per student emergency allotment to meet the burdens of inflation and avoid tax increases.

"With completion of the Education Article at the Constitutional Convention I have turned much of my attention to the needs of our school districts for emergency funding assistance," Kubiak said this week.

"I am convinced that unless the state comes to the aid of our financially-strapped districts before September, many districts face tax increases -- a minimum of 10 percent -- to be able to open their doors for the next school year," he added.

Rep. Kubiak said the $40 per student allotment would cost $100 million on a one-shot basis in the state.

He said that according to the state comptroller's estimate, the state has $325 million surplus in the treasury.

"No better use could be made of a portion of this money than to rescue our schools from bankruptcy and prevent local ad valorem tax increases," he stated.

"I also believe we should put $40 million into increased benefits for our retired teachers to meet the inflation spiral. I don't believe anyone can doubt the justice of this," Kubiak said.

Yoe Seniors To Sponsor Supper, 3-Act Comedy

The Yoe High Senior Class will be presenting two performances of "Desperate Ambrose," a comedy in three acts on Friday and Saturday nights.

A spaghetti supper will precede Friday's performance and will start at 5:30 p.m. in the Ada Henderson cafeteria. Serving will be until 7:30 p.m. Tickets will be $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students under 12.

The play will be presented in Ben Milam cafeteria with performances starting at 8 p.m. each night. Tickets for the play will be $1.50 for adults and $1 for students.

The play is directed by James Gwaltney. Members of the cast are Jane Anderle, Herbie Nance, Mary Blake, Jim Delony, Becky Marek, Craig Friemel, Curtis Henley, Ricky Sapp, Zim Morris, Patti Chubb, Melinda Fincher, Tom Jensen, Leslie Perkins, Cindi Clark, Ricky Williams, Kenneth Dusek, and Jimmy Vaculin.

Proceeds from the supper and play will be used for senior class activities.

Band Meeting Tonight

All those interested in forming a community band will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday (tonight) at the Yoe Band Hall. Anyone who plays or has played a band instrument is urged to attend.

Little League Meeting

A meeting has been called for 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Cameron Community Center for all Little League managers, coaches, and parents of potential players to set up the summer program. An attempt is being made to have the games ready to start by May 1.

SSI Program Seeks Eligible Disabled

Volunteers are continuing their efforts in Central Texas to find persons eligible for Supplemental Security Income (SSI), said Mrs. Katie Cheatham.

Beginning in January, 1974, the Federal government instituted the SSI program, a monthly cash payment to people in financial need who are 65 or older, or blind, or disabled.

In an effort to locate and inform eligible persons, a short-term outreach project called SSI-Alert has been initiated under the auspices of the Governor's Committee on Aging.

No fee is charged for enrollment in the income program, explains Darrell Carr, state coordinator of SSI-Alert. Eligibility is determined according to Federal guidelines by the Social Security Administration. Free interviews for referral to the SSA are conducted by the SSI-Alert office, which is the local Red Cross chapter.

In general, these benefits can be paid to people whose monthly income is below $160 for a single person or $230 for a couple, if this income comes from Social Security, retirement or other pensions; or below $365 for a single person or $505 for a couple, if this income is from wages, salaries, or self-employment income.

This means that even persons who already receive Social Security can receive Supplemental Security Income, as SSI is not paid out of Social Security tax money. In addition, those who qualify for SSI are automatically eligible to receive Medicaid payments for medical care.

The first SSI payments were made in January, 1974. These are the new gold-colored checks. Application should be made immediately in order to begin receiving payments as soon as possible.

Persons wishing to apply for SSI benefits or who want more information should telephone Mrs. Katie Cheatham, Area Project Director at (817) 773-2960; or they may send their name, address and telephone number to: Mrs. Katie Cheatham, Bell County Chapter, American Red Cross, Muncipal Building, Temple, Texas, 76501.

Absentee Voting Opens For City, School Elections

Absentee voting has opened in both city and school elections, set for April 2 and April 6, respectively.

Absentee ballots may be cast at City hall for the city election and at the superintendent's office for the school election.

Contested races are seen this year in the city election as two candidates are running for mayor and three candidates are running for two council posts.

Incumbent Mayor Gene Blake is seeking his second term and local businessman Dean Trubee is also running for mayor.

Incumbent councilman Lincoln Mondrik is unopposed for Place 2, and Ernest Moore and Gene Lumpkin are both seeking Place 1. The Place 1 incumbent, Lester Turner, is not seeking re-election.

The school board election has two incumbents seeking re-election with no opposition. They are Mrs. Betsy Brown and board president Calvin Cobb.

Buckholts Extends Brady's Contract

The Buckholts school board meeting in regular session Monday voted to extend Supt. Leon Brady's contract through June 30, 1977.

In other business, the board:

--Called for estimates on painting or sandblasting of the main building;

--Employed Mrs. Kay Osborne for the remaining three months of this year as a Federal funded remedial teacher in grades K-2;

--Authorized the superintendent to call a meeting of the Citizens Advisory Committee requesting a study of facilities housing the lunchroom and HE department;

--Adopted an attendance policy for 4-H members;

--Adopted a policy making the vocational classes co-educational.

Beyond Politics...

U.S. Dist. Judge John Sirica sent a secret grand jury report to the U. S. House Judiciary Committee at midweek. He pointedly said the report "draws no accusatory conclusions."

The House Judiciary Committee may be the only place President Nixon can settle Watergate to public satisfaction. Following dozens of indictments, trials and convictions, the President is satisfied his scandal-rocked Administration has been purged of political malpractice.

Judge Sirica plays an imminently important role in Watergate and whether President Nixon survives.

Of late, he has reached a mandatory age of retirement at 70 and is stepping aside as a presiding federal judge. He will continue to sit as a judge.

He stepped off the bench during the first Watergate trials when G. Gordon Liddy and several others were convicted of duplicity in planning and seeing through the charade.

The Judge failed to accept what was presented within the "advocacy" framework of American jurisprudence in that trial and played more a European judicial role of inquistor.

And this was one brief "inquisition" which has reduced the landslide Nixon win of 1972 to ashes, Teapot Dome to a thimble.

He is quick to say there was no other choice, but deliver the sealed documents to House Judiciary. "Eminently proper, and indeed, obligatory," he said.

It is little wonder the public believes in the judicial process even if lawyers' prestige is at ebbtide. Judge Sirica is a Republican and former boxer who saw justice about to be decked. Had he not been a life-appointee to the federal bench, would he have stepped down to ask those additional questions?

He's the only one who might answer that. But the fact that Judge Sirica inquired beyond the testimony, and "lawyer's lawyer" Leon Jaworski has been indicting ever since, keeps the process viable and beyond politics.

Grand Jury Scheduled...

Robertson County grand jury went into session about presstime Wednesday to find out about Hearne's mysterious, missing $12,000.

Officials are to be congratulated for quickly bringing this incredible incident before a grand jury for full consideration of the facts.

Hearne City Council was not so disposed the other week in a regular council session when a newspaper reporter from Bryan was asked to interview councilmen after the meeting rather than ask questions during the public meeting. About 100 citizens were there. Inquiry had already begun in the matter by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

It is a curious turn of events when the residents of a city of more than 5,000 have to find out what is going on in their City Hall through the cloistered processes of a County grand jury.

It is hardly difficult to imagine what will happen at the polls in Hearne's April city election.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

STUDENT LOBBY CLOUT JARRING CONGRESS

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.) ". . . Last evening I had the special privilege of addressing the third annual conference of the National Student Lobby (NSL) . . .

"I ask unanimous consent that (an address by Willis Edwards, chairman of the board of directors of the National Student Lobby) be printed in the Record." (Excerpts follow):

Despite Gordon Strachan's much echoed advice that young people should stay away from Washington, we did not. We did not and we will not—we will not because we know that what happens here in Washington on Capitol Hill and in the White House affects our lives as students and affects it daily.

When the American people did not understand the tragedy of the war in Vietnam, we as students told them. When the American people did not understand the civil rights movement, we as students told them. When the American people did not understand environmental issues, we the students told them. When the American people do not understand the crisis in education, we as students tell them—and this is why we are here.

NSL is students fighting to minimize the impact of the energy crisis on students. NSL is students concerned with child care centers, with problems of the Vietnam veteran, with women's rights, and discrimination against minorities.

NSL has successfully lobbied Congress for passage of the Harris amendment to the higher education bill placing Congress on Record as advocating students on boards of trustees.

NSL has the potential for being the most powerful lobby group in Washington and the Nation as a whole.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

NSL now joins the horde of lobbyists pressuring Congress for special treatment.

Organized Labor Declines To Endorse Candidates

Organized labor took a look at both major Democratic candidates for governor, found them friendly, and endorsed neither.

The AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education, at its convention here, declined to choose between Governor Dolph Briscoe and Frances (Sissy) Farenthold.

To do so, said AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard, would risk a split in the ranks. Strengthening of the Democratic party in preparation for 1976 elections should be labor's "overriding concern," according to the formal COPE report.

COPE has declined to take a stand in the race for speaker of the House of Representatives, where two friendly candidates, Representative Carl Parker of Port Arthur and Representative Fred Head of Troup, are among the top prospects. A later meeting was authorized to take another look at the race.

These statewide candidates did receive COPE endorsements:

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Atty. Gen. John Hill, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, State Treasurer Jesse James and Bob Bullock for Comptroller.

Of the group receiving labor's blessing, only Bullock has more than token opposition.

Looking toward their top goal of electing a Democratic president in 1976 and a veto-proof congress in 1974, COPE signaled strong participation by union members in party convention activities this spring.

ALL OUT OIL FLOW CONTINUED — At a meeting in Amarillo, the Railroad Commission ordered a 100 per cent oil production allowable for April — 25th straight month of maximum production.

Some top oil industry officials blamed the energy crisis on government tampering with the market through excessive regulation. They called for a free market system, and said the industry is capable of supplying more energy than any other nation at "attractive prices."

The April allowable totals 3.9 million barrels a day, an increase of 106,309 from March. Crude production a year ago was 3.5 million barrels daily. It has now declined to 3,445,000, and crude stocks are nearly 2.9 million barrels lower than in 1973 at the same time.

CONVENTION MAY RECESS — The slow-plodding Constitutional Convention is expected to take a prolonged recess about the end of the month or soon after April 1 at the latest.

Delegates are convinced there is no way to meet the 90-day completion schedule originally laid down by Convention President Price Daniel Jr. They will take off until after the primaries and check back in to try and finish up the job later.

TAX STUDY DONE IN — An intensive statewide school property tax value study requested by the governor, in effect, has fallen through.

The Legislative Property Tax Committee gave up hope for the study and voted to take up with two firms' proposals for studies in only 35 districts, due to money problems.

A committee staff member estimated cost of a statewide study at $8 million, and the LPTC has just $350,000 on hand.

COURTS SPEAK — A divided Court of Criminal Appeals upheld a life sentence in a Dallas County mutilation murder case.

A Fort Worth man's conviction in the death of his estranged wife was reversed because a policeman's written report was withheld from defense attorneys.

Two Killeen County heroin cases were reversed because of illegal search in one and, in the other, the fact that the commanding officer of one soldier at Fort Hood was not allowed to give character testimony for him.

The State Supreme Court upheld a 1973 statute which requires bail bondsmen in major counties to put up cash

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

According to the polls, members of Congress are held in rather low esteem these days, only 26 per cent of the people saying they approve of them, although it is well to keep in mind that another poll shows that about 35 per cent of the people don't even know who their Congressman or Senator is, meaning I guess you dont' have to know a politician to dislike him.

Nonetheless, member of Congress do have a hard job and I'd like to point out a recent example.

Under a new idea developed a while back, members no longer are put in the awkward position of having to vote themselves a raise. A commission decides if a raise is in order and, if the President approves, the raise is automatic, unless the members vote it down. What could be neater than getting a raise and being able to go back home and tell the voters you didn't vote for it?

Well, such a situation arose last week. A raise from $42,500 a year to $47,700 was approved, with a second raise running the salary up to $52,800 year after next. No vote necessary, just sit tight and it' be automatic.

What' s so hard about that, you might ask. Nothing, if the newspapers would leve Congress alone. But newspapers started pointing out that by not voting to stop the raise, Congress actually was voting to get it. People who could remember who their Congressman was started watching to see what he'd do. Congress started feeling itchy. It's no easy job deciding between a big raise and a mad voter, this close to income tax paying time and an election coming up in the Fall.

By a 3 to 1 vote, the pay raise was declined in the Senate and a vote never got to the House. Members are not so dumb. They know the first rule of office is to stay there.

Personally, I think they ought to have the raise. You ever tried to get by on $42,500 a year and still keep a clear head for the critical problems facing this nation?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

There is a serious shortage of nitrogen fertilizer. Senator Lloyd Bentsen urges that more natural gas be allocated to be made into nitrogen fertilizer. Garner Ted Armstrongs predicted that natural gas is the fuel we will run out of first. Agriculture Secretary Butz has contributed to the nitrogen shortage by eliminating the legume program from the soil conserving practices.

The nitrogen drawn by the legumes from the unlimited supply in the air results in no harmful runoff to pollute our streams and lakes like we have from commercial fertilizer.

In the thirties to save our land soil conserving practices were set up. The county committies had the right to select the practices they thought best suited for their county and divide the counties allocation among the different practices.

Secretary Butz by eliminating the legume program has ended the participation of the tenant farmers in the soil conserving program. It is ironical than ever after popping off 300 million dollars to keep the price of wheat down for the Russians he would consider his judgement better than that of the county committe's all over the United States.

Yours sincerely,
Paul Dillon

USDA Changes Disaster Rules

Cong. W. R. Poage, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture and Cong. B. F. Sisk, chairman of the Agriculture Committee's Cotton Subcommittee, announced that after meetings with Department officials, the Department of Agriculture has agreed to change two regulations originally issued regarding disaster payments for cotton producers.

The Department had originally announced that no disaster payments would be made on cotton acreage acquired by reapportionment or transfer to increase a producer's original allotment.

The Department's reason for issuing this regulation was the fact that they felt some farmers might intentionally acquire additional acreage for the sole purpose of possibly receiving disaster payments in the event they were prevented from planting or harvesting because of natural disasters.

The Department had stated they were afraid that some farmers might intentionally plant acquired acreage in high risk areas, providing them with a form of insurance.

According to Congressmen Poage and Sisk, the Department has agreed to alter this regulation giving the county ASCS committeement the authority to determine if in fact farmers acquired additional cotton acreage for this purpose. If the county committeemen determined that no such intention existed on the part of the farmer then he would be eligible for disaster paymwnts on such acquired acreage.

Congressmen Poage and Sisk also announced that the Department had issued a regulation which would provide disaster payments only if a farmers' cotton yield was less than 2/3 of the ten-year average yield of the entire county, adjusted to farm productivity.

This regulation would not have permitted a farmer to prove that his yield was actually more than the ten-year county average, thereby reducing his eligibility for disaster payments he might be able to receive.

OIL FOUND

Oil was found in Brunei, a sultanate on the island of Borneo, in 1939, National Geographic says. Today only Nigeria and Canada pump more oil, among oil producers in the British sphere. All Brunei's production of liquefied natural gas for the next 20 years -- five million tons annually -- will go to Japan.

Feedlot Control Isn't Easy

With water pollution control requirements now being met by most of Texas' large livestock and poultry feeders more attention is being directed to the complex problem of odor control.

Mr. John M. Sweeten, agricultural engineer specializing in animal waste management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says that odors from confined livestock and poultry feeding operation can often be reduced by heeding, or taking advantage of, natural processes that influence odor production. Three such factors are temperature, moisture and oxygen supply.

"For instance, feedlot odors are more severe during warm weather than during cold, dry periods," explains Sweeten, "Bacterial decomposition virtually ceases below 35 degrees but is extremely active in warm weather. Hence, proper waste management is more critical in the summer when odor production is the greatest.

"Experiments have shown that manure odor intensities are also proportional to moisture content. This is readily evidenced by the fact that feedlot odors are maximum soon after rain. Also, handling manure in liquid form in confinement buildings usually produces more intense odors than does handling of manure in solid form," notes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

With a moisture content of 65 per cent or more, manure is effectively saturated and thus poorly aerated, so that anaerobic bacteria (those that need no free oxygen) can decompose the organic matter. The end products of anaerobic digestion include carbon dioxide, water, heat and methane plus odorous gases such as hydrogen sulfide, ammonia and several volatile organic compounds.

On the other hand, manure with a moisture content below about 50 per cent will have enough free oxygen for aerobic bacteria to digest the organic matter. These bacteria do not produce odorous compounds.

More Jobs, Income, Demand

Beef and other meat prices are influenced both by supply and demand. With the removal of beef price controls and other uncertainties, supplies are moving upward in response to demand. Factors influencing the demand side include expanded employment, with 5.3 million more people employed than two years ago; increased disposable income—up to $139 billion nationally (an increase of 18½% over the past two years); and the growing affluence of other developed nations, creating stronger world demand for meat products.

Chemicals Control Pecan Aphids

By Bill McCutchen

Many homeowners and commercial pecan producers have been depending on Di-syston for control of the yellow and black pecan aphids.

The yellow pecan aphid is the insect that causes the heavy "honeydew" problem in July, August, and September. This insect is not particularly harmful to pecan trees but it can be a real-nuisance if you park your car under a heavily infested tree, or if the tree overhanges you patio area or sidewalk.

The black pecan aphid can also be effectively controlled with Di-syston applications and is far as pecan production and tree health is concerned it can be a serious problem. The black aphid in feeding injects a toxin into the leaves, killing leaf tissue. Heavy infections of the black aphid defoliate trees in the late summer thoroughly destroying any hope for a pecan crop the next year.

Several producers complained last year about not getting good control of the aphids with Di-syston. Upon further questioning I found that those who didn't get control put the material out too early. The Di-syston should not be put out until late May or early June. A lot of the material was put out in March and April last year and it played out in Midsummer when the aphids were at their worst.

Di-syston is a septimic material. As such it is picked up through the root system and is carried into the sap stream of the plant. Sucking insects such as aphids that consume a thousand times their weight daily in plant juices are killing by their material. It does not control chewing insects, or some of the other sucking insects.

In clean tilled orchards this material should be worked into the upper 2 to 3 inches of the soil in a 6 foot band on all adies of the trees at the drip line. In sodded areas the material should be put on top of the soil and watered in throughly when possible.

Exercise caution in handling this material as it is quite toxic. You may contact the County Extension office for further reconmendations on application.

Coyote Control Program

I have just learned that the hearing in Federal District Court in Washington, D. C. involving the injunction which the Humane Society has brought against the experimental program using the M-44 and Sodium Cyanide to control Coyotes in 44 Counties including Milam which was scheduled for March 11 has now been delayed until March 19.

It is therefore necessary to stop any further actions on this program until after the hearing. I regret the delay in the program, and I hope that all persons concerned will understand that this is a matter over which we have no control.

Feeder Prices?

Dr. Ed. Uvacek, Extension Livestock Marketing Specialist had this to say recently about feeder prices.

"The recent drop in feeder prices has caused considerable alarm among Texas cattlemen. Since mid-January, the price level has not only trended downward but actually fell in the last two weeks.

Several reasons are behind these lower feeder prices. Most importantly, feeder animals were over-priced when compared to fats. In fact, even a $4 and $5/cwt difference was too much, considering the tremendous losses under which the feedlot having been operating.

Another reason for the adjustment in prices was the number of feeder cattle available. Regardless of the controversy over whether or not the USDA figures are right, the fact remains that there were tremendous numbers of yearling cattle held over into 1974. January sales of cattle and calves at Texas Livestock Auction Market were up 17% over a year ago. Most of these were feeder cattle.

Still a third weakening factor for feedlots was a drop in the fed cattle market. Choice 9-1100 lbs. steers sold direct from Amarillo area feedlots averaged $50.45/cwt. during the first week of February. By the last week of the month, however, prices had fallen to $43.90 - that's a 13% drop within four weeks.

If you are selling feeder animals and feel put upon by this recent price weakness, just consider the feedlot-their losses are running in the neighborhoor of $135 to $155/head. That's actual net loss-not on paper.

Yes, the industry is experiencing another confused readjustment period. One of several which we've gone through since the control period ended. The real problem is the way the industry operates - on the basis of comparisons. Supply or demand is greater or less than last week. last month, or a year ago. But now, we really do not have a base because last year was under controls and the adjustment has been going on ever since."

Twentieth Century Lamb

Lamb is a twentieth century meat product, although domestication of sheep for their flesh or wool and other products is ages old. Prior to the first world war, however, sheep meat was mutton, since an animal was not used for meat until its wool producing days were over. But because of the pressing need for more meat during the war, more lambs were slaughtered. Each yielded 50 to 60 pounds of better tasting, higher quality meat in four or five months, in contrast to 70 pounds of less desirable mutton after holding for four or five years of wool production.

France Reinforces Naval Presence In Arab Area

By Gilbert Sedbon

PARIS

Reuter -- France is reinforcing its naval presence in the Red Sea and Indian Ocean as part of President Georges Pompidou's policy of wooing Arab oil producing states and protecting increased French interests in the area.

The French navy has created a new naval command extending from Djibouti on the Red Sea to the Antarctic Kerguelen Islands and from the west African Coast to Sumatra and the Malaysian archipelgao, officials said.

France's deep suspicious of joint Soviet-U.S. activity in the recent Middle East war was led to the Pompidou government to speed up the strengthening of the French Naval presence in the Indian Ocean.

Foreign Minister Michel Jobert has denounced what he described as the "Condominium of the two superpowers" -- the United States and the Soviet Union -- for their handling of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

He said that France must now look after its own interests and make sure it is not dragged in to serve the purpose of either superpower which twice in the past decade have verged on the brink of a nuclear confrontation.

The French government has since clinched spectacular long-term oil-for-arms and oil-for-trade deals running into multi-millions of dollars, with Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, and Iran and is anxious to safeguard its interests.

"Our main oil supplies come through the Indian Ocean, and shortly we hope through the Red Sea and the Suez Canal, and if there is any threat to our communications, we must be able to meet it," a senior French naval officer said.

Like Britain, France must protect its sea lanes, he added. But unlike Britain, which share its Indian Ocean naval base at Diego Garcia with the United States, France prefers to go it alone.

The French navy is keeping a close watch on the movements of the 35-odd Soviet ships stuffed with electronic equipment that sail up and down the Indian Ocean.

"We are used to shadowing Soviet vessels," the officer said. "We do so in the Mediterranean and elsewhere."

The French have been buzzing and shadowing Soviet aircraft and submaries sneaking out of the eastern and into the western Mediterranean getting as close as Corsica.

Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Andrei Grechko expressed his annoyance to french Armed Forces Minister Robert Galley during a recent visit to Moscow over what he described as "interference" with Soviet craft in the Mediterranean.

But with the growing Arab economic power and the big markets the oil-producing countries are offering western countries for advanced industrial technology, France is determined to "show the flag" and defend its interests in a wealthy but turbulant area coveted by the world's superpowers.

France knows that its Indian Ocean fleet cannot match the Soviet and U. S. Naval build-up in the area. But its "politique du pavillon" (show the flag) policy, as French naval chief of staff Adm. Marc de Joybert describes it, is also backed by nuclear power.

The French nuclear submarine Le Redoutable, the first of a fleet of five equipped with Polaris-type missiles, cruises in the Indian Ocean frequently.

Church Ceremony Unites Couple

The First Baptist Church in Rockdale was the setting Saturday evening, March 9, for the marriage of Miss Carol Jean Lumpkins and Mr. Jerry Alan Heitman. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otha Ray Lumpkins. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Heitman of Cameron.

The Rev. D. D. Simpson performed the double ring ceremony against a background of arched brass candelabrum holding white tapers and greenery and baskets of white gladiolas. Reserved seats were marked with white ribbon bows.

Organ music was provided by Mrs. Donnie Betchan. Soloist was Mr. Barkley Alford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white chiffon with Alencon lace and seed pearl appliques in a modified A-line design. The fitted empire bodice was accented with long sleeves featuring wide bands of Alencon lace, and the wedding band neckline was edged in lace. The chapel train was caught at the shoulders with floral lace petals and seed pearls. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was held by a tiara headpiece of lace petals and seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white rosebuds and baby's breath. White ribbon streamers and loops of pearls cascaded the length of the skirt.

Miss Sue Ann Lumpkins of Austin was her sisters maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. David Synatzske of Sonora, sister of the groom, Mrs. Ray Coward of Cameron and Miss Barbara Klick.

Attendants wore shades of rose, yellow, green and blue. The gowns were identically styled dotted nylon with white flocked daisies. The empire waistline and wedding band neckline matched that of the bride's gown. Long full sleeves were banded in wide cuffs trimmed in lace and tiny covered buttons. They carried colonial bouquets of daisies and baby's breath in colors to match their gowns.

Bobby Heitman of Port Arthur served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were David Synatzske of Sonora, brother-in-law of the groom, Thomas Ivey of Cameron and Eddie Huntsman of Thorndale.

Ushers and candlelighters were Mr. Gregory Daniel of Houston and Bert Dockall.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Lumpkins chose a formal gown of green knit crepe with matching accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage. The mother of the groom wore a blue chiffon formal gown with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The serving table, covered in a white cloth, was formed in the shape of a cross. A silver epergne centering the table held a large arrangement of spring flowers. Silver candelabrum with matching tapers were placed on either side. Appointments were of silver and crystal.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Bobby Joe Heitman of Port Arthur, Mrs. Charles Daniel of Houston, Mrs. Thomas Ivey of Cameron, Mrs. Eddie Huntsman of Thorndale, Miss Lynette Shepherd of Killeen, Mrs. Ernest Rinn, Mrs. William Payne, Mrs. William Scurlock, Mrs. Barton Sutton and Miss Ella Caywood.

Miss Janiece Daniel of Houston, cousin of the bride, handed out rice bags.

The bride is a graduate of Rockdale High School. She is employed at Citizens National Bank in Cameron. The groom is a graduate of Yoe High School and attended A&M University in College Station. He is employed by Santa Fe Railroad.

Following a wedding trip to New Orleans and Mississippii the couple will live in Cameron.

Following the rehearsal Friday evening the groom's parents were hosts for a buffet dinner at the Texan Cafe in Cameron. The tables held arrangements of spring flowers and place cards were decorated with minature brides and grooms. The couple presented gifts to their attendants.

MRS. JERRY ALAN HEITMAN

Luncheon Honors Bride

At noon Saturday, March 9, Miss Carol Lumpkins, bride elect of Jerry Heitman was entertained with a bridesmaids luncheon. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. David Synatzske of Sonora, sister of the groom and Mrs. Bob Heitman of Port Arthur, sister in law of the groom.

Besides the bride and her attendants, special guests were mothers of the couple, Mrs. O. R. Lumpkins and Mrs. J. J. Heitman; also Mrs. Charles Daniels of Houston, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Loyce Phillips of Gladewater, aunt of the groom.

The luncheon table was centered with a spring arrangement of roses, iris and daisies in the brides chosen colors of pink, yellow, green and blue. Places were marked with wedding cards decorated with ribbon, net and wedding rings. The bride elect and the mothers were presented white rose corsages.

The hostesses presented Miss Lumpkins with a tray especially designed for her. An inset in needlepoint was worked by Mrs. Synatzske in a design using the bride elects chosen colors and also showing the dates of the wedding.

Antique Show

Members of the Gamma Phi Beta soroity have announced plans for the opening of the third annual Gulf Coast Antiques Show and Sale which the group will sponsor March 29-31 at the Municipal Auditorium in Austin. Proceeds from this show will benefit the Gamma Phi Beta centennial scholarship fund and the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

City Library Lists New Book Selections

Following is a list of new books now available for loan at the Cameron Public Library.

Gloriana The Years of Elizabeth I by Mary M. Luke - In this superb narrative the "years of Elizabeth" become a vivid reality.

Too Few For Drums by R. F. Delderfield - An exciting and sensitive novel of a young British soldier during the Napoleonic Wars.

Women in White by Frank G. Slaughter - An engrossing novel about a vast metropolitan hospital and the fast breaking life - and - death dramas that are the daily experience of those who run it.

City of Gold and Shadows by Ellis Beters - In this spellbinding mystery the actions of the characters and the motives from which they spring interlock perfectly with a secret that constantly twists, turns and baffles.

Deck With Flowers by Elizabeth Cadell - Surprises and fun are the only things the reader can be assured of in this better-than-ever Cadell.

Give Us This Day by R. F. Delderfield - Before his death in 1972, Delderfield completed this last volume in the Swann saga, a great novel that brings the Swann family and England to the brink of the First World War.

The Lion Triumph by Phillipa Carr - A dramatically exciting novel to read; both suspenseful and engrossing.

Meat Prices Leveling Market Specialist Says

Red meat prices are leveling off this week, one authority reports.

"Consumers can save six to 10 percent a week on food costs -- if they'; l study meat ads and build menus around the specials, Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, predicted.

"Look for best beef values on arm and blade pot roasts and steaks, ground beef, round steaks and roasts.

"Best pork values generally appear on hams, picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, along with end-cut loin roasts and chops."

Mrs. Clyatt cited fryer chickens as "the food budget balancer for many families," noting that they are bargains in comparison with some other popular protein foods. She advised shoppers to check special prices on chicken hens, turkey and turkey parts.

"Egg prices are generally unchanged, with supplies ample in all but small-size egggs. Grade A, large-size eggs offer the best combination of quality and economy.

"During the Lenten season, fresh fish specials will be more numerous, and frozen packs are in good supply, while canned tuna and salmon will be featured in some stores."

Fresh fruit and vegetables in good supply at the most economical prices include grapefruit, oranges, apples, bananas, pineapples and tan-

QUAPAW cotton

ANOTHER GREAT VARIETY FROM ROGERS DELINTED COTTONSEED

Texas cotton growers from the Valley to the high plains are reporting favorably their results of planting the new QUAPAW Cotton from Rogers Delinted. Such comments as, ". . .the cotton strips and gins good and I am increasing my planting next year." QUAPAW cotton has a medium size storm resistant boll and good seedling vigor with medium size seed. QUAPAW responds well to single row, skip row or narrow row spacing. It harvests well with strippers or spindle pickers. QUAPAW gins good and cleans up good with extra high quality fiber.

Baptists Petition Against Gambling

More than 75,000 Texas Baptists have signed petitions urging inclusion of a strong prohibition of parimutuel gambling and lotteries in the new state Constitution.

The petition campaign was instigated by Dr. James H. Landes, executive secretary - top administrative officer -- of the 2-million member Baptist General Convention of Texas.

In less than two weeks, more than 75,000 persons signed the petitions, which will be presented to the convention in Austin.

"The 75,000 signatures are only the initial response by Texas Baptists," said Dr. Landes. "Many other Texans also are strongly opposed to gambling in this state."

Texas' four United Methodist Church bishops also have recently issued a statement urging inclusion of a strong anti-gambling section in the new Constitution.

Gospel Sing Set At Buckholts

A gospel song and praise service featuring several special musical numbers will be held at the Evangelical Brethren Church of Buckholts on Sunday, March 24 at 2 p.m.

'Solitude' Is One Man Show At TJC

TEMPLE

Richard Wordsworth, the great great grandson of William Wordsworth, will present his one - man show, "The Bliss of Solitude," at Temple Junior College on March 21.

The show will be at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium on the college campus. There is no admission charge and the presentation is open to the public.

"The Bliss of Solitude" is a tribute to William Wordsworth and is based on the life and works of the distinguished English poet.

The performance includes selections from poems, Dorothy Wordsworth's journal and letters, and the correspondence of the Wordsworths.

Richard Wordsworth has had years of experience in the classical theater, modern drama, musicals, television and films. He has made five tours of America, several European trips and five visits to Australia.

His appearance in Temple is sponsored by Lambda Theta, the TJC chapter of Phi Theta Kappa Fraternity. Faculty sponsors are Miss Ethel J. Haag, Miss Irene S. Haag and Bill Vannatta.

Annual Flowers Brighten Landscape

Flowering annuals can serve as accents and color coordinators in home landscapes.

"Careful planning will help you achieve success with these plants," reminds Everett Janne, Landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Use annual beds as borders along fences, sides of the house or around the patio where they will not detract during the off-season. These beds should be well-drained. Use an edging to raise the bed level if necessary," suggests the specialist.

Improve tight clay soils by adding two to three inches of sharp builders sand and the same amount of organic matter, such as peat moss. Then work this material into the soil to a depth of 8 to 10 inches.

Be sure the soil is fertile in the beds. Apply two to three pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 12-12-12 or its equivalent per 100 square feet and work it into the top six inches of soil.

"Once you've prepared the bed properly, design a planting pattern," advises Janne. "Place taller plants in the back if the bed is viewed from only one side. If the bed is viewed from many areas, plant the taller flowers in the center.

Fertilize the flower bed every three or four weeks at one to two pounds per 100 square feet. Water regularly but do not keep the soil saturated, cautions the horticulturist.

He's escaped the fate of an egg—but what has the chick got to look forward to? The technology that incubated him in twenty-one days now carries him relentlessly toward the roaster.

We, too, often seem trapped on a similar conveyer belt, caught in a cadence which carries us step by step through life. The carefree days of childhood swiftly wane once schooling begins. Then come jobs, marriage, family, a home.

The list—and the responsibilities of mature life—seems endless. No wonder we long to escape—to "get away from it all."

Yet such daydreams little help us to cope with life today. God's love and wisdom give us the guidance and solace we need. His Church—the church down the street—stands ready to meet our needs.

Trees Offer Beauty, Protection

"Trees are our biggest environmental improvement bargain and offer homeowners many benefits," says Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Trees furnish protection from extreme heat, cold, wind, drought and floods. At the same time, they reduce air and noise pollution while providing shelter and food for birds, animals and man."

A source of year-round beauty, trees also increase property value and indicate community pride, points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

In general, planting a tree demonstrates a feeling of continuity with the past -- and anticipation for the future, notes the horticulturist. When cared for properly, a well-placed, carefully selected tree provides pleasure for many generations.

Careful selection involves choosing trees adapted to the area--and which meet specific needs, adds Welch. And now--late winter and early spring--is a good time to set out trees for most of Texas.

County Extension agents have specific information on selecting and caring for trees.

Spring Tornado Season Near

Tornado season is approaching in Texas, and certain precautions can save lives, warns Wayne Keese, agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Tornadoes are violent wind storms that usually grow out of threatening thunder clouds. In Texas, the peak tornado season is during the months of April, May and June, but tornadoes may occur anytime.

"Although tornadoes may occur at any hour of the day or night, they are most frequent during the warmer hours of the day," points out Keese.

When the possibility of a tornado exists, the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City, Missouri, sends out a tornado watch to the threatened area. The message is teletyped to radio, television and National Weather Service stations in the area.

"A 'tornado watch' alerts people to the possibility of a tornado," explains the Texas A&M University System specialist. "When a watch is announced for your area, there is no need to interrupt normal activities except to listen for weather advisories and watch for threatening weather. Be sure a battery-powered radio is available in case power is lost."

A tornado watch identifies a specific time and area, but everyone in the general area should be alert for threatening conditions.

"When a tornado has actually been sighted or detected by radar, a 'tornado warning' is issued. The warning tells where and when a tornado was sighted, the direction it is likely to move, and the time it is expected to move through the warned area," explains Keese.

If a tornado warning is issued for your area, move immediately to a cellar, basement or civil defense shelter. If you are in a home or other building with no basement, go to the lowest level in the center of the house or other building. Take shelter in a small room or closet or under heavy furniture.

Keese also lists other safety precautions.

At home, open a few windows to allow for sudden air pressure changes. Then find shelter.

Stay away from windows and buildings with wide, free span roofs.

In open country, escape by moving at a right angle to the tornado's pth.

Lions Camp Open For Handicapped

Applications for a summer vacation full of fun for handicapped children in the Cameron area are now being accepted by members of the Cameron Lions Club.

This unique Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville will open its first two-weeks session Sunday, June 2. Five sessions will be held this summer for youngsters from seven through sixteen years of age.

The Camp is free to eligible blind, deaf, mute or crippled children. All requests for summer camp are handled locally by Lions.

For more detailed information about the Camp, contact Monroe Fuchs of the Cameron Noon Lions Club, business phone 687-6677, residence phone 697-2326.

In the past years, Lions have sent nearly 16,000 youngsters to the Texas Lion Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville.

The Lonely Heart

DAV Sets Convention

Texas Disabled American Veterans Region 3 and auxiliaries will convene at the Town and Country Motor Hotel in Palestine on April 20-21 for their annual spring convention.

Registration will begin at noon Saturday and a joint meeting will be held in the afternoon. A banquet will be served Saturday night.

Business meetings will resume Sunday morning with the election of officers on the agenda.

Texas Dept. Commander Gil Chapa of Corpus Christi and Dept. Commander of the auxiliary Melada Latham of Brownwood are scheduled to be present.

Yuke Spilman, Region 3 commander of Killeen will preside over the auxiliary convention.

WINNING WITH EASE: It looks as if Yoe sophmore Jimmy Patzke is posing for the picture rather than winning first in the 880 yard dash. Patzke ran his half mile in 2:00.4, just .4 seconds off the Cameron Relays record.

AIR FREIGHT

The first air freight carried by plane was a $1,000 bolt of silk that weighed 60 pounds. It was lashed next to the pilot on one wing of a Wright biplane and flown 65 miles from Dayton, Ohio, to Columbus on November 7, 1910.

Collectors' items. Because of electricity.

Electricity has made all of these nostalgic relics of a bygone era.

The kerosene lamp faded into the past when electric lights began brightening every home. Other electric appliances replaced the wash tub and scrub board, the flatiron and the wood-burning cookstove and eliminated the tiresome chore of hand-washing dishes, pots and pans.

Electricity. A vital part of everyday living in so many ways. And Texas Power and Light Company is doing its utmost to assure an adequate supply for essential needs.

Electricity. Still one of the biggest bargains in your budget.

Rockdale Wins 39th Running Of Cameron Relays, Yoemen Fifth

The Rockdale Tigers totaled 92 points Saturday during the 39th running of the Cameron Relays to take the meet's first place honors.

Rockdale scored 75 points in field events, and the second place team, Caldwell, dominated the running events with 82 points out of the team total of 90.

Coach Nelson Huffman's Yoe tracksters managed only a fifth place standing with 56 points, while Austin Westlake scored 69 to place third and Hearne compiled 65 points to finish fourth in the field of 11 teams.

Only one record was broken during the meet, but the record books were almost changed several times.

Gary Lankford of Taylor was the record setter with 12-9 in the pole vault. The old record of 12-6 was set last year by McBride of Brenham.

The Yoe track team came close to setting a new record as Sophomore Jimmy Patzke ran his 880 in 2:00.4 The old record was 2 minutes.

Patzke's half mile was the only first place winner for the Yoemen, but another fine effort by Yoe miler Pedro Canizales gained a second. Canizales was timed at 4:39.9, only a second behind the first place finisher.

Alfred Jackson of Caldwell was the meets high pointer with 26. Jackson placed second in the long jump, second in the 440, and ran on both winning relay teams.

In perhaps one of the most exciting events of the evening, 40 - year - old Bartley Braden of Bryan won the first Yoe Master Mile with a time of 5:54.7 John Chubb was second, and John Homerstad finished third.

The three winners were the closest out of 8 on a prediction of their mile time which was made before the race.

Braden Wins 1st Yoe Master Mile

A touch of nostalgia was added to the 39th running of the Cameron Yoe Relays on March 16, 1974, when Bartley Braden, an employee of the A&M System Comptroller's Office, returned to his hometown, to the same track, to the same stadium and the same track eet to capture first place in the first annual Masters Mile run (for people age 35 and older). The only thing different was the fact that it was 23 years later.

In his only other appearance at the Cameron Yoe Relays in 1951 as a Senior he was a member of the 440-yard relay team that won 2nd place.

His first place finish among 8 contestants in a time of 5:55 was incidental since the plaque was awarded because he finished closest to his pre-race predicted time of 5:49. Braden says almost weekly we read the results of new studies and scientific findings that show regular exercise reduces the risk of heart attacks in middle-age and older people. Experts now tell us that heart disease is the number 1 cause of death even in the 35-45 age group.

Braden describes himself as one of the worst athletes ever to graduate from Yoe High but says that only two qualities are needed for a long healthy life and that is persistence and self-discipline. Athletic capability has nothing to do with it. It is practically free; it does not require expensive fees or dues, it does not require expensive equipment or overpriced clothing. Anyone can afford a few dollars for jogging shoes - especially if your life depends on it.

There is a word of caution in his elementary advice: Go out and jog until you get tired and then stop, but do this 4-6 days per week. The first day you may make 50 yards, the second day only 60, the third day only 70 and so on but in a short time with a little self-discipline you will be well on the road to a life of feeling better.

Braden, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Braden of Cameron, picked up another first Saturday. Before leaving town he was the first to turn in an entry to Cameron coach Ed Cauley for the 1975 Masters Mile.

Brenham Cubs Down Yoemen

The Brenham Cubs took both games of the doubleheader away from Cameron Tuesday in Brenham. The Cubs scored 4 runs in the first innings of both games to take a 4-0 and a 8-1 victory.

The Yoemen were unable to put any points on the board for the first 13 innings, but managed to do so in the seventh inning of the second game.

Brenham exploded for 4 runs on 5 hits in the first inning of the opener, but after this Yoe pitcher George Whiteside settled down and allowed only one hit.

In baseball action Monday at Yoe Field, the Yoemen blasted Killeen 11-1 in the opening game of the doubleheader, but Killeen bounced back to take the second, 1-0.

The first two innings proved to be the important ones for the Yoemen in the first game.

Cameron led off with a 3-run inning, and then scored 4 runs in the second off of Craig Friemels and Jeff Smithermans two-run-homers.

John Barron was the winning pitcher for the Yoemen with 10 strikeouts, and only 4 hits given up.

In the second game, the Yoemen had two chances to take the victory, but both times they were thrown out at home.

Killeen was led by the two hit pitching of Glenn Cunningham.

The Yoemen are now 3-4 on the season, and will see their next action in Taylor on March 26.

Exhibits Change Often At Strecker Museum

WACO

There is more to a museum than meets the eye. And, at Baylor University's John K. Strecker Museum, what meets the eye is constantly changing.

"In any museum," commented Dr. Bryce C. Brown, Strecker Museum director, "what the public sees is only the tip of the iceberg."

The museum's current 160 exhibits are only the visible signs of a much larger operation. Storerooms housing myriad shelves of the museum's collections -- everything from mussels to antique bottles -- stretch underneath Baylor's Sid Richardson Science Building and supply the materials from which the museum's exhibits are constructed.

"We constantly change our exhibits," Brown said "and move them around. No exhibit in the museum is really permanent.

"And yet people come to the museum who haven't visited it in 15 or 20 years and are surprised to see that the museum has changed," he continued. "People need to visit a museum on a regular basis. A museum is like a person -- the individual units are constantly changing while the whole retains its integrity."

It's the quality of a musum's collections that make the museum a good one. Since the Strecker Museum probably is one of the oldest natural history museums in this part of the country, its collections often are historically as well as scientifically significant. The museum was founded in 1893. It is named for John K. Strecker, sometimes referred to as the father of herpetology, a branch of zoology that deals with reptiles.

Strecker was curator of the museum from 1903 to 1933.

Besides supplying material for the museum's exhibits, the collections also provide valuable material for student and professorial research. Brown said one recent research project utilized the museum's bird egg shell collection.

The thickness of the older shells in the collection was compared to modern egg shells, which have become increasingly thinner over the years. Brown said the research was designed to determine whether or not the increasing thinness of the shells is due to the modern use of DDT.

Brown said specimens from the collections also are sent to different museums and biology departments across the country for use in research.

There are two major types of collections -- those in which the specimens are well-documented and identified, and those in the student study collection. Brown said collections used for general student study contain poorly documented material that if destroyed, represents no great catastrophe. Material in the well-documented collections usually is reserved for the use of museum personnel or students working on special projects.

Among those collections in the museum's wet storage -- those specimens preserved in alcohol -- are lizards, frogs, snakes, fish and salamanders.

The museum's mussel collection is one of those that is historically significant since mussels are rare now because they can't exist in polluted water.

Other collections in the museum include the seashall collection, in which there currently are 10,000 specimens. Brown said the collection probably will number about 30,000 seashells when all the items are identified and added to the collection.

Most of the specimens in the museum's bird egg collection were collectdd prior to 1900, and the permanent insect collection dates back "at least to the 1930s," Brown said. There are about 200 types of barbed wire in the barbed wire collection, and Brown calls the museum's mineral collection "one of the better ones on the area."

The museum storerooms also contain some documents mostly of Chinese cooks, as well as pottery, arrowheads, dart points, bird nests, old bottles, skeletons, African beads, old lamps and mammal study skins, some of which were collected in 1899. Some of the bird skins in the collections belonged to birds that now are almost extinct.

LEGAL NOTICE

Pork Referendum and Producer Board Election.

Being certified by the Commissioner of Agriculture of the State of Texas for this purpose, the Texas Pork Producers Association, 2422 Taho, Sherman, Texas 75090, proposes a referendum election on May 14, 1974 under provision of Article 55c, Vernon's Civil Statutes, on the proposition of whether or not the pork producers in the State of Texas shall assess themselves a maximum amount of 10 cents per head on all slaughter animals to be collected at the point of first processing or sale and to elect members of a 15 member commodity producers board to administer proceeds of such assessment to be used for research, predator control, disease and insect control, education, and promotion designed to encourage the production, marketing, and use of pork.

The referendum and election will be held by mail ballot which will be provided to all eligible voters not later than 15 days prior to the election. Ballots must be mailed to the polling place at Sherman, Texas before midnight on the date of the election.

Any person within this state engaged in the business of producing, or causing to be produced slaughter hogs for commercial purposes is eligible to vote, including owners of farms and their tenants and sharecroppers, if such person would be required to pay the assessment proposed.

Any person qualified to vote at the referendum may place his name in nomination for membership on the proposed commodity producers board by application to the above organization signed by himself and at least ten other persons eligible to vote in the referendum. Such applications must be filed at least 30 days prior to the election date.

Any person qualified to vote who does not receive a ballot prior to April 30, 1974 may obtain one at his local County Agent's Office.

USE THE LABEL AS A PASSPORT!

To take a quick trip South of the Border for an adventure in eating, use the label as a passport. You can "travel" through the wide variety of ready-made canned and frozen Mexican specialty foods with ease.

Mexican meat dishes, like any food product containing meat, must conform to U.S.D.A. requirements. The labels on these products tell you how much of what is inside the package. Before you buy, take a little time to study the label. Whenever you are buying an unfamiliar product, it is good to know the label must list ingredients in descending order according to weight.

The comida, traditionally the main meal of the day in Mexico, is built around one or more of these special meat items. Tacos are thin Mexican pancakes made from corn, fried crisp and folded to hold a meat filling. These are garnished with your choice of lettuce, cheese, chopped tomatoes, or onions, and topped with a spicy sauce of tomatoes and peppers.

Chili is probably the best-known Mexican dish on this side of the border. Rely on the label to tell you about its contents. Chili con carne means it must contain at least 40% meat; but chili con carne with beans will have only 25% meat.

Tamales are another favorite. They are made by placing a thin layer of masa (cornmeal) dough with filling inside a dry corn husk or parchment paper. These are then rolled and steamed. The husks or papers must be removed before eating.

Enchiladas are meat, cheese or chicken filled wheat flour tortillas which are rolled and folded, then baked and served hot with a spicy sauce. Empanadas are pastries shaped like turnovers and filled with a variety of meat and/or cheese fillings, and deep fried. Burritos are excellent finger foods made by rolling soft flour tortillas over meat or bean mixtures. These can be deep fried or baked.

To round out the comida, choose side dishes of refried beans (frijoles), rice, chilled bean salad, or guacomole, a delicious avocado salad served with corn chips. Serve a cold beverage and a simple dessert.

A trip to the store, a good look at the passport (label), a little preparation time, and your South of the Border meal will be delightful.
